Together
We run together with those who seek positive change.

The Milano Marathon wants to be a laboratory of innovation, a reference point for actors acting towards positive change, working on priorities and leverage points such as circularity, emissions, mobility and technology.

The Milano Marathon is committed to collaborating with all actors and in particular with local institutions and sport federations, so that together they can enhance the cultural identity of the city of Milan through running and promote good civic-minded behavior and innovative projects with a positive impact.

The Milano Marathon wants to represent and enhance the values and essence not only of running, but of sports and well-being in general, designing an event for everyone, athletes, children, adults and organizations that share its spirit.
